Agents don't have time for complicated web ordering of underwriting requirements and underwriters don't have time for cumbersome online management tools. That's why with the new version of EMSIOnline, we're making both your jobs a whole lot easier. With the launch of EMSIOnline 5.0, agents will spend more time selling and underwriters spend less time managing.

Less data entry and faster response

We've consolidated screens and streamlined the order process, resulting in less typing, clicking and waiting. When entering an order, all information is on one screen for easy viewing and editing. Two different case views offer fast scanning—"Simple" for a no-nonsense list of cases and "Expanded" for in-depth information with case details. All orders for a case are tied together to easily locate requirements even if an order was added at a later date.

Better management tools for organizing cases

EMSIOnline automatically organizes cases into Smart Folders based on status milestones and are color coded for easy identification. For example, all cases flagged for action are copied into a "Action Required" folder and cases with results available are copied into their own "Results Available" folder. You can also create your own folders to organize however you want. No more wasting time when you only want to see those cases with similar status.

Expanded search functions

Whether you want to locate cases using only a few options or need more advanced search parameters, EMSIOnline does it all. Search by ordering office, order placer, case number and more. You can also save your own searches to run automatically with a click of a button.

Color codes to easily identify order status

Identify at a glance where each case is in the order process. Green means a case is open, gray means it's closed, blue means results are available and red means it requires attention. This powerful tool saves time and eliminates the frustration of searching through cases.

More powerful case control

Easily control case visibility per your specifications. We can also more efficiently adopt your company's unique hierarchy of offices for ultimate flexibility. For example, if regional managers should see only offices in their area, we can arrange that. And if an employee is covering for a colleague while out of the office, you can easily allow the employee access for temporary coverage.

See for yourself how EMSIOnline will save time and make your job easier.
