Cynthia Schmadeke Retained as Consultant for EMSI

Former insurance industry executive will focus on quality and performance initiatives.

Scottsdale, AZ – September 28, 2005 – Examination Management Services, Inc. (EMSI) announced that the company has retained former insurance industry executive Cynthia Schmadeke as a consultant. Ms. Schmadeke will work closely with EMSI's product development, performance excellence and strategic account departments on quality initiatives in EMSI's exam division, as well as consult on operational improvements.

Ms. Schmadeke spent more than 30 years at MetLife where she most recently managed their paramedical and medical vendor relations for Life New Business and, by extension, the MetLife enterprise. She was also instrumental in developing, piloting, and implementing a teleunderwriting program for Life New Business at MetLife. Ms. Schmadeke held numerous leadership roles throughout her career with MetLife including managing the sale of the MetLife Insurance Testing Laboratory to LabOne, Inc. and managing the Life New Business Information Technology portfolio.
