Trialworks and EMSI Partner to Provide Comprehensive Medical Records Information Services to Litigation Firms

Scottsdale, AZ – February 2, 2006 – Examination Management Services, Inc. (EMSI), the nation's leading provider of medical record retrieval services, and Lawex Corporation, a case management system solutions provider to litigation firms, announced that users of TrialWorks, the company's case management system, will now be able to order and receive status on medical records from EMSI. EMSI offers medical records and other third party documentation to enable litigators to expedite case preparation. This integrated solution automatically populates all record retrieval activity to the TrialWorks Transaction Log and stores the records in the TrialWorks Medicals Tab.

"Lawex is dedicated to continually enhancing its TrialWorks™ Case Management Software and ensuring our clients' success," said Patrice Gimenez, Chief Operating Officer of, Lawex. "We believe our case management solution can increase customer productivity by providing comprehensive services through a consolidated desktop interface. Our strategic partnership with EMSI provides case details and medical records information at the click of a button."

With this new offering, organizations can take advantage of:

- » Seamless ordering of medical records
- » Comprehensive document retrieval support services
- » Information services tailored to clients' specific protocols
- » Personalized customer service that exceeds the highest standards in the industry
- » Faster turnaround time on medical records
- » HIPAA compliant procedures

"Our channel partners are an integral part of our overall company success, and the Litigation Services division of EMSI is honored to partner with leading software solutions providers like Lawex," stated Lynda Johnson Lorenz, senior vice president, Strategic Accounts for EMSI.
